

FIGURE D.4.6 The control unit as a microcode. The use of the word “micro” serves to distinguish between the program counter in the datapath and the microprogram counter, and between the microcode memory and the instruction memory.